Within our protection netting systems we have the perimeter protection netting system. In this case, the usefulness of the installation of a perimeter net in a football field is to prevent the ball from leaving the sports area. In other words, it serves as a ball stop system.

It makes sense, therefore, that this type of perimeter netting installation on a football pitch is installed just behind the goal, as we can see in this case, as this is the area most susceptible to the ball leaving the football pitch. Although it is also placed on the sides to prevent the ball from flying over the stands.
